About:

Women Ahead of Their Time (WATT) is a newly established not-for-profit organisation aiming to inspire and empower younger generations of female leaders. WATT created an online platform with a collection of personal stories of female professionals in STEM, biotech and healthcare. The platform provides an opportunity to find inspirational role models from a variety of cultural and socio-economic backgrounds and disciplines, paving the way to encourage businesses to build diverse environments and equal opportunities at all career stages.

Our target audience includes mainly young professionals who are about to finish their degrees and are considering their future profession and want to learn more about various career paths and job opportunities. Our aim is to promote the connection of successful female experts with younger generations.

Our long-term vision is to build a wider network of professional women, by continuously sharing new stories and case studies, spurring relevant discussions with our blog posts, organising events and mentoring sessions.

WATT was founded in 2019 by six female Cambridge PhD students, graduates and postdocs. The non-profit is run by 18 volunteers globally and since official launch in March 2020 in London, WATT has over 1,000 followers and is supported by L'Oreal and the UK Bioindustry Association.

Job Description:

We are seeking diligent, creative, passionate, motivated, self-driven individuals to join the WATT team and support us in inspiring, educating and empowering younger generation women by bringing inspirational stories to life.
